
Production Date: 01 May 2015
Version 1.0
Aarughat is a village located in the mountains of Western Nepal, roughly 64 kilometers northwest of Kathmandu. Coordinates: 84.813092 E, 28.046884 N
Structures in Aarughat were damaged and destroyed as a result of the April 2015 earthquake.

Coordinates: 84.813092 E, 28.046884 N
This neighborhood is situated more than two kilometers northeast of Aarughat, in the Manbu area.

Coordinates: 84.821174 E, 28.067596 N
Located roughly 14 kilometers southeast of the April 2015 earthquake epicenter, this area experienced structural damage and destruction.

Coordinates: 84.821174 E, 28.067596 N
This neighborhood is located in the Daraudi Valley of Western Nepal, about 80 kilometers northwest of Kathmandu.

Coordinates: 84.723109 E, 28.170113 N
Significant damage and destruction occurred in this neighborhood, located approximately three kilometers north of the earthquake’s epicenter.

Coordinates: 84.723109 E, 28.170113 N
This village is located in Western Nepal, roughly one kilometer south of the town of Hansapur. Coordinates: 84.632447 E, 28.161724 N
Situated approximately eight kilometers west of the earthquake’s epicenter, the village experienced damage and destruction. Coordinates: 84.632447 E, 28.161724 N