12 December 2007

In recent months, threats from Somali pirates have resulted in the release of a European fishing vessel and Egyptian Woodhead, which were released 23 November. These threats have increased the risk of ship traffic in the region, as pirates have targeted ships in recent months.

The International Maritime Organization (IMO) has released updated guidelines for ships navigating through the region, including recommendations on how to avoid pirate attacks.

The United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (UNOCHA) has provided additional resources to support maritime security and anti-piracy efforts in the area.

The World Food Programme (WFP) has also provided additional support to ships navigating the region, including guidance on how to avoid pirate attacks.

The International Maritime Bureau (IMB) has reported an increase in pirate activity in the region, with a total of 50 incidents reported in the past month.

As of 30 November 2007, the latest available data from the IMO shows a total of 151 incidents reported in the region since the beginning of 2007.
